How to Be A Good Caregiver for Someone with Alzheimer’s Disease: Education is the Answer!

- Being a dementia caregiver is demanding and doesn’t come naturally; our Resource Center helps families become Master Caregivers
- Knowledge empowers patients and caregivers to be proactive instead of reactive while managing Alzheimer’s Disease and related dementias
- The Resource Center provides a nurturing environment where families can learn care options and be linked to resources in the community

The Concept of a Resource Center for Memory Loss and Dementia Caregiving is Pioneering and Provides New Opportunities

- The development of this unique resource was made possible through generous private donations and community support
- Our temporary Resource Center is now open; An expanded Resource Center immediately adjacent to our clinic is under development
- Health Education is an integral part of our dementia care
- The Health Educator charges a nominal fee for meeting with patients and families during their visit to the Center’s Cognitive Disorders Clinic

Our Health Educator Helps Families Navigate the Information Maze:

- Find out what information is most accurate and reliable
- Differentiate preliminary findings from the practical results of the latest research
- Learn what to expect and when to seek help
- Learn how to anticipate and prepare for transitions
- Establish a compassionate, “positive aging” approach to caregiving
